

Signs of Life press release

"Pick your favourite arty post-punk type bands for a quick comparison if you like (Talking Heads, Gang of Four, etc.) and then imagine them updated, tight as fuck and with some tunes so killer that there's probably been an arrest warrant issued for them."

The Sound of Confusion

Cop on the Edge's new track 'Signs of Life' is out today (4 February) to listen to and download for free for 1 week only at <http://soundcloud.com/copontheedge/signs-of-life>

Ever been out on the open sea, raging against the waves, unsure about whether you'll ever get to where you're going and if you even want to go there in the first place? Neither have Cop on the Edge, but this is what they think it would be like.

A four-track EP, also conveniently called 'Signs of Life', will be out on 11 March.

About Cop on the Edge

Cop on the Edge are Jim on lead vocals, bass and melodrama, Steve on guitar and Greek chorus, Anna on boards and technology and James on drums and cricket. They live in London, but like all proper Londoners, are from entirely different places. They met at Jim's birthday party some years ago where Steve made Anna cry by re-enacting a Morrissey gig.

They record at 'thecombinationof' in Manor House and are given the inspiration and energy to do so by pale ale, suburban upbringings, records with big squelchy synthesisers and the filmography of Bill Paxton.
